The background of the entire cover is a large, intense fire. In the lower-left foreground, the dark silhouette of a firefighter wearing a helmet is visible, looking towards the flames. The fire is bright orange and yellow, filling most of the frame.

The Magazine for the Premier Community In Which to Live, Work and Raise a Family

CORAL SPRINGS

Winter 2007

Training Heats Up

Public Safety
Training Center opens

A Day in the Life of a firefighter

Museum of Art 10th Anniversary WorldFest
Waterway Cleanup sign ordinance and more inside...

Your Coral Springs City Commission and Charter Officers

Samuel S. Goren
City Attorney

Vincent M. Bocard
Commissioner

Roy Gold
Vice Mayor

Scott J. Brook
Mayor

Claudette Bruck
Commissioner

Ted Mena
Commissioner

Michael S. Levinson
City Manager

Coral Springs honored to receive national Baldrige Award site visit

The City of Coral Springs prides itself in being run as a business, and it recently received a site visit for the Malcolm Baldrige Award Non-Profit pilot program.

The Baldrige National Quality Program is the highest level of recognition for corporate excellence in the nation, and this is the first year it has tested a program for non-profit and public entities. The program is managed by the National Institute of Standards and Technology, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Technology Administration.

The City was one of only two applicants nationally to receive a site visit in this new category. A team of examiners analyzed the City's processes and how they compare to the criteria set for the award.

The Baldrige criteria set performance standards for leadership, strategic planning, customer and market focus, measurement and analysis, human resources, process management, and results.

As a pilot project for Baldrige, there will be no award made in 2006, but feedback from this site visit will give the City an objective insight into how well it is performing, and allow the City to make further improvements to its processes.

"We use these programs to constantly sharpen our skills in customer service, process management and data analysis," City Manager Michael Levinson said. "We are very honored to have been chosen."

The City will reapply next year, hoping to win the award.

Contact your Commissioners

The Mayor and Commissioners of Coral Springs have office hours throughout the year on a regular basis in order to give Coral Springs residents the opportunity to meet with them one-on-one to discuss their concerns and City-related issues.

To view the Commission's current office hours, please visit coralsprings.org/events.

City recognized for financial achievement

The City of Coral Springs was recently recognized for its strong financial management and achievements.

For the 27th consecutive year, the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) awarded the City with its Certificate of Achievement Award for Excellence in Financial Reporting. The City's Annual Budget book also received GFOA commendations for "Outstanding as a Police Document," "Special Performance Measures Recognition," and "Special Capital Recognition."

The GFOA is a non-profit association serving approximately 13,500 government financial professionals with offices in Chicago, Ill., and Washington, D.C.

This award is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting and represents a significant achievement by the City and its management. Through effective cash and debt management, strong internal control, and sound financial policies, the City is able to provide the sufficient resources necessary to meet the residents' expectations.

The Magazine for the Premier Community in Which to Live, Work and Raise a Family

CORAL SPRINGS

Winter 2007

features

- A Day in the Life of a Coral Springs firefighter Page 2
- Training Heats Up Page 4
- 10 Years at the Museum of Art Page 5
- A Winning Idea Page 14

city

- Youth Mentoring Program Page 6
- Safe Teen Driving recognition Page 6
- Seniors vs. Crime team helps resolve consumer issues Page 6

community

- Volunteer at the Waterway Cleanup Page 8
- Police bike unit back on the road Page 8
- Celebrate your City at Our Town America festival Page 9

business

- New ordinance will allow more creative signage Page 10
- City to host teen Business Success Day and Job Fair Page 10
- What's Going Up? Page 10

environment

- Our water: How is it treated? Page 11

culture

- Celebrate our diverse cultures at WorldFest Page 12 recreation

- Tickets available for Center for the Arts winter performances Page 15

- What's Happening? Page 17
- Around the Town Page 17

City of Coral Springs
9551 West Sample Road
Coral Springs, Florida 33065
954-344-1000

Want to know more about Coral Springs?

Visit our web site at coralsprings.org
Call Citizens' Services at 954-344-1001.
TTY for the hearing impaired: 954-344-1022.
Watch In the Loop on CityTV Channel 25 at 7AM and 7PM daily, and visit coralsprings.org/citytv25 to view the program guide and to link to streaming video and podcasts of the channel.
Register at coralsprings.org for the e-News monthly newsletter.

CORAL SPRINGS

is produced quarterly by the City of Coral Springs Communications and Marketing Department.
If you have questions or comments regarding this publication, e-mail editor@coralsprings.org, call 954-344-1197, or write to Coral Springs Magazine at the address to the left.

Communications & Marketing Director
Kevin Knutson

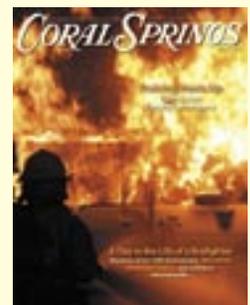

Publications Coordinator
Christine Parkinson Jahrsdoerfer

Writer/Media Relations Coordinator
Maria Fuentes-Archilla

Writer
Staci Zavattaro

Photography
Maria Fuentes-Archilla • Kaitlyn Lees
George Miller • Christine Parkinson Jahrsdoerfer

On the cover:

A firefighter puts out a vehicle fire during a training exercise held at the new Public Safety Training and Technology Center in Coral Springs. See page 4.

A Day in the Life

Life can be a 'Trip' in the Coral Springs Fire Department

It was New Year's Eve 1995 and the 911 dispatcher relayed a stabbing at a party to Fire Rescue. Jan "Trip" Tripician and his colleague, who he had just met, hopped into their Rescue Unit and headed to the scene.

Nerves were high. This was his first call as a Coral Springs firefighter, and he remembers it as if it had happened yesterday. He hadn't been out on a call for about a year while attending the fire academy and working a side job. Prior to joining the academy, Trip had been a paramedic in Miami and Palm Beach County.

Now that he was a certified firefighter, he was back in the game, but felt a bit rusty. His heart was pounding hard in his chest. The New Year's celebration had turned into chaos, but luckily the wound wasn't very deep and with some bandages, all was well.

As the first full-time hire for the Coral Springs Fire Department, Lieutenant Tripician has some history here. He has worked for the City for the past 11 years and he continues to love every minute of it.

He works 24 hours straight and has the next two days off. He's on the Bravo shift and reports to work at 7AM to relieve the Alpha shift. When he's not at work saving lives, he spends quality time with his wife and his 1-year-old daughter, Caitlyn Paige. Trip is also proud to say that he is a hard-core Dolphins fan, even though he admits they haven't been doing so well this year.

There are five fire stations in Coral Springs and two in Parkland, which contracts with Coral Springs for fire services. Currently, he is assigned to Station 95 and is also an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) instructor for the City. Station 95 is located at 300 Coral Ridge Drive, and reports to calls in the southwest portion of the City, from the Sawgrass Expressway to University Drive and Royal Palm Boulevard to the C-14 Canal.

The City receives an average of 12,000 to 13,000 calls a year, and close to 90 percent of all calls are EMS calls, while only 10 percent are fire related. Station 95 also receives calls regarding accidents on the Sawgrass Expressway, which include car fires and patient extrications.

It's Friday, November 10 and Trip is working the next 24 hours as well. So far it's been a quiet day. It's 10AM, and Trip decides to take care of some clerical paperwork. He also reminds his staff to renew their paramedic licenses.

The crew sits in their ready room at the station, prepared for emergency calls. One paramedic types away on her laptop trying to finish some homework.

As they keep themselves busy, the radios relay messages from dispatch to all the different stations throughout the City.

They gather around their dining table and have lunch

“There is no typical day in the life of a firefighter. There is no monotony and that is my favorite part of the job,” said Coral Springs firefighter Jan ‘Trip’ Tripician.

together. “We’re like family,” Trip said. “I sometimes see them more than I see my wife.” When the team is not on a call, they keep active and keep their radios handy for any calls that might come through. They tend to study, play basketball, run laps around the station, wash the fire trucks and cook.

At around 5PM, Trip receives a call about an adult male having trouble breathing. They arrive at the patient’s home and find that he has a breathing stoma, which is an opening made in someone’s neck due to throat or neck cancer. Trip was the only firefighter who had encountered a similar situation in the past, so he took the opportunity to teach his crew as he cleaned out the stoma. The procedure requires the addition of a saline solution and suctioning so that the patient could cough out what was blocking his airway.

The patient’s color improves, and his wife settles down a bit. A Rescue unit arrived while Trip did the procedure, and they escorted the patient to the hospital. All the while, Trip continued the treatment until the patient was hospitalized.

On the way back, the crew stops by Station 80, located on Coral Springs Drive, and fuels the truck. They arrive back at Station 95, where Trip showers and rests. Little does he know the rough day that lies ahead of him tomorrow.

It’s Veterans Day, and, like any other day, they wake up, have breakfast and keep themselves busy.

Trip is also a SWAT Medic Team Leader for the Special Response Team. At 5PM he is called to a standoff at a condominium complex. A man was upset and locked himself inside his home. Residents from nearby units were evacuated and swarms of police secured the perimeter. Hours later, police entered the condominium and searched the premises. Trip assisted the Special Response Team, and found that the man had taken his life. Luckily, no one else was injured, but that family’s life is changed forever.

“It was a rough 48 hours,” Trip said.

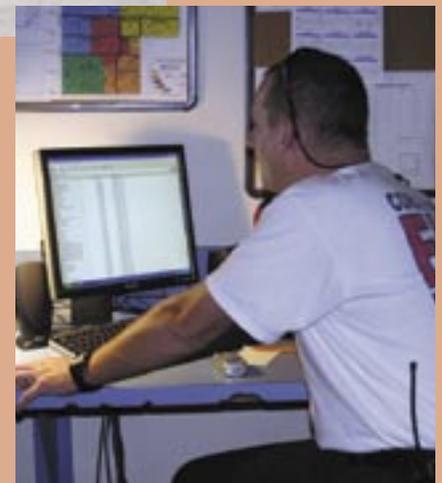

A firefighter has many responsibilities, including maintaining equipment, answering calls in a timely manner, and keeping accurate records of all emergencies handled. As a Lieutenant, Tripician makes sure his entire crew is completing their duties.

There are times when Trip arrives at a code blue scene, the universal page for a life-threatening situation, and as hard as he and his fellow co-workers try to revive the person, it’s too late. Similar to a war veteran who doesn’t like to discuss what he has lived through, Trip politely requests not to discuss what it’s like to lose a patient.

“There is no typical day in the life of a firefighter,” Trip said, although some cases are harder to deal with than others. “There is no monotony, and that is my favorite part of the job.”

For more information on how you can become a firefighter, visit coralsprings.org/fire.

Training Heats Up

Public Safety Training Center opens in Coral Springs

It's called The Box. Temperatures inside can climb as high as 1100 degrees Fahrenheit. Wearing heavy bunker gear, firefighters from Miami-Dade County crouched inside, trying to calm the blaze before it reached flashover, a point where a fire ignites one item then another.

Miami-Dade Fire Rescue Captain Bob Carpenter hustled his men out after each had a chance to hear and feel the heat of a fire that is just about to reach flashover temperature, or about 1154 degrees Fahrenheit.

"This is exceptional," Carpenter said, still dripping with sweat after coming out of The Box. "It's a small, compact facility, but they do a whole lot."

Departments from throughout Florida train at Coral Springs Fire Department facilities. And with the newly opened Public Safety Training Center in the Coral Springs Corporate Park, the capacity for offering training and classes is much higher.

Before the building opened last year, Fire Academy classes took place at Station 71, an active fire station on Coral Ridge Drive. Chief Training Officer Bob Bertone said students in the Academy would have to work around CSFD members and vice versa, sometimes in tight quarters.

"Because we have achieved such success with our Fire Academy under those conditions, the City foresaw the need for this new facility," Bertone said, referring to the Coral Springs Fire Academy's exam passage rate.

Of the students in the last eight consecutive Academy classes to take the state firefighter certification test, 100 percent of them passed on the first try. The previous state record was three consecutive classes, a record the Coral Springs Fire Academy also set.

"Our Academy has thrived on the input of very creative instructors," Bertone said. "They come from more than 12 different fire departments, and they bring a wide variety of ideas and experience to the Academy."

In the new Public Safety Training Center, there are six classrooms, each able to accommodate 42 people, the maximum allowed by state regulations. The building also includes three breakout rooms for specific Emergency Medical Technician training, a "dirty room" that opens into an apparatus bay where trainees can do gear exercises during bad weather, and office space for Fire and Police Department training divisions.

The Conex trailers, pioneered in Coral Springs, will also move to the new center. Including The Box, this set of metal trailers is used to teach firefighters and Academy students different fire-fighting techniques, including the flashover training.

The Department began using the trailers as an economic and efficient way to do hands-on fire training. One or part of one trailer can easily be replaced if it is worn down. Replacing a burn building, Bertone said, could cost millions of dollars.

The City began planning for the Public Safety Training Center three years ago. Since then the building has gone through several redesigns, and Hurricane Wilma caused some construction setbacks.

"The success of the Academy was creating such a demand that we needed more space for training, not just for our Fire Academy students but also our EMT and specialty training programs," Bertone said.

The Fire Department is proud not only of the Academy's success with its basic firefighting classes, but also its recognition as the premier training program for fire apparatus driver engineers.

"This Academy has become a regional training resource for over 14 area fire departments," said Fire Chief Donald Haupt.

Hearing about the new center in Coral Springs made Carpenter of Miami-Dade Fire Rescue yearn for the opening of his department's facility. Until then, he and members of departments throughout Florida will continue training in Coral Springs at one of the state's premier facilities.

For more information on the training programs available at the new Center, visit coralspringsfireacademy.org.

Since its opening in 1997, the Museum has exhibited innovative and ethnically diverse exhibitions, and hosted eclectic and creative art classes for adults and children.

10 years at the Museum of Art

Special programs, such as Artist in Residence, also involve the entire community and have produced stunning sculptures and murals to complement the Museum collection. During 2007, the Coral Springs Museum of Art will schedule special exhibitions, programs and events to celebrate 10 years.

On Tuesday, February 13 from 6:30 to 8:30PM, the Museum will celebrate its 10-year anniversary. Artists, supporters of the Museum, and friends will gather for show and tell, music, cake, entertainment and special recognitions. In addition, the Museum will officially launch an endowment that will support the Museum in the future. Everyone attending is asked to give $10, $100 or any increment of 10 to establish a Museum of Art Endowment, which will benefit the Museum for years to come.

"I think it's quite significant in today's economy that a museum can make it successfully for 10 years," said Museum Director Barbara O'Keefe. "We are very thankful to the City of Coral Springs for their vision and contributions, to the artists for their creative talent, to sponsors and donors for their gifts, and to the Board of Directors and Friends of the Museum for their guidance and fund raising efforts."

Visit csmart.org or call 954-340-5000 for more information on exhibits, events, and programs. Also, see the back page of this magazine for information on the museum's current and upcoming exhibits.

The Coral Springs Museum of Art has been "Artfully Yours for 10 Years" ... come help us celebrate!

Artist in Residence

In the past year, the Museum of Art has invited artists from the five continents to share with the Coral Springs community their art and culture. As part of the Artist in Residence program, the Museum hosted sculptors from Europe, Africa, and North America as they created sculptures with a theme of "Art for Peace."

On January 27, Japanese sculptor Yoshin Ogata and Argentine sculptor Perez Celis will "Break the Block" on Museum grounds. The last two sculptors, representing South America and Asia, will be completing their sculptures by Spring and will bring the International Sculpture Symposium to a close. Visitors are welcome to stop by the Museum and watch their creative process.

When finished, these two pieces will join the other three stone sculptures that are located in the International Peace Garden adjacent to the Museum.

Art Classes in an Art Museum

To appease the growing demand of classes and the need of space, the Museum has expanded their classrooms to the second floor. Visitors can take a variety of classes including intermediate and advanced Ceramics, Figure Drawing, Painting, Cartooning, and much more.

The Museum is located at 2855 Coral Springs Drive and is open Monday through Saturday from 10AM to 5PM. For additional information on any of the following programs, contact the Museum at 954-340-5000 or visit csmart.org.

Youth Mentoring Program

The Coral Springs Police Department recently expanded its Youth Mentoring Program to include evening sessions for students and mentors unable to participate during the day. The four-week program will feature mentors from a variety of business fields highlighting the connection between a career path and school choices. The program is open to all middle and high school students who live in Coral Springs.

"It's great to have all these speakers share information with the kids," said Youth Services Coordinator Jenny Rebour.

Rebour said the Police Department began the mentoring program 10 years ago using grant funds. During the school year, Rebour takes a group of middle school students to six different sites throughout the City and county to help build leadership skills and enhance their community involvement.

"Mentoring is teaching by example, by being a role model," she said.

The next Career Mentoring session starts on Thursdays, February 1 to February 22 from 5 to 7PM. Program acceptance is based on the students' application, academics and school behavior. For student applications or to participate as a Mentor Speaker, call 954-346-1289 or e-mail jrebour@coralsprings.org.

Safe Teen Driving

The Coral Springs Police Department launched its Safe Teen Driving initiative last year to recognize local teenagers who go without a traffic citation or an "at-fault" accident during the school year.

Students are eligible to apply for recognition if they live in Coral Springs and attend Coral Glades High School, Coral Springs Charter School, Coral Springs Christian Academy, Coral Springs High School, Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School or J.P. Taravella High School. Taravella administration will allow students not living in Coral Springs to participate as well.

Teenagers must submit driving records from August 2006 until April 2007 to their School Resource Office by April 20. Douglas students can give records to Sgt. Robert Kostick in the Youth Liaison Unit. Copies of driving records are available online at www.hsmv.state.fl.us or through one of the Broward County courthouses.

"The goal is to enhance overall driving safety for teenagers with hope that they will continue these driving habits through their adult life," Capt. Jeff Maslan said.

Students who meet the criteria will receive gift certificates to a local cinema and video rental store, along with a certificate of recognition from Police Chief Duncan Foster and a cord for seniors to wear during graduation.

For more information, call 954-346-1200.

Since its opening one year ago, the Seniors vs. Crime office has handled more than 135 cases.

Seniors vs. Crime team helps resolve consumer issues

Fay Staub just helped return about $1,200 to an elderly woman who never received her hurricane shutters.

"He couldn't fulfill his promise to the client, so we went after him," Staub said of the contractor.

This is just an example of the more than 135 cases volunteers with Seniors vs. Crime have helped resolve since the Coral Springs office opened last January. Seniors vs. Crime is a special project of the Florida Attorney General's Office, operated in conjunction with the Coral Springs Police Department, that provides services to seniors who feel they have been victimized or taken advantage of by a business or service provider.

Seniors vs. Crime volunteers will take a case from a person of any age who believes they have been wronged. If the case involves criminal activity, it could be referred to the appropriate law enforcement agency.

"There's a variety of things we take care of here," Staub said.

Coral Springs Police Department Community Involvement Coordinator Cindy Heafy said the Seniors vs. Crime workers – who have logged more than 1,100 volunteer hours – have recovered more than $72,800 in actual dollars and more than $47,900 worth of recovered property. Of the 23 cases the office referred to law enforcement, four have resulted in arrests.

"It's very satisfying doing this," Staub said.

For information on getting help or volunteering, call 954-340-4168. The Seniors vs. Crime storefront at the Turtle Creek Wal-Mart Police Substation, 3801 Turtle Creek Drive, is the only one in Broward County. The office is open Monday through Friday, 10AM to 2PM.

Neighborhood Grants available

Residents interested in beautifying their community are encouraged to apply for the City's Neighborhood Matching Grant Program.

The City will provide matching funds up to $5,000 for single-family neighborhoods and up to $2,000 for townhouse/condominium neighborhoods. The neighborhood contribution may include cash contributions, donations of materials, professional services such as engineering and construction, or sweat equity contributed by neighborhood residents or businesses. (Note: A professional license might be required for some contributions.)

Past recipients have made various improvements such as landscaping, lighting and signs. All projects must be visible and accessible from a public roadway.

To be eligible, neighborhoods must have a Homeowners, Condominium or Neighborhood Association, and be established as a not-for-profit corporation under Florida Statute, Chapter 617.301-312.

Applications may be obtained at City Hall South, 9530 West Sample Road, or online at coralsprings.org/partnerships/neighborhood_policy.pdf. Staff is available to assist neighborhoods in developing a plan or just completing an application. For more information, contact the Community Development Department at 954-344-1114.

Volunteer Spotlight

It's Election Day, and Vivian Ruiz has just finished volunteering at Seniors vs. Crime. After a short break, she heads over to Cypress Park to help with Kids Voting Broward, a mock election program for youngsters.

Ruiz smiles and chats with the young voters while placing an 'I Voted' sticker on their t-shirts.

"It might sound cliché, but I get more out of volunteering than what I give," Ruiz said.

A Coral Springs resident for the past 26 years, Ruiz began volunteering in 1993 after an ad in a local newspaper caught her attention.

Back then, she worked part-time at her husband's local business and wanted something else to keep her busy.

"I thought it would be fun to not only help the community, but meet new people and socialize," Ruiz said.

She began assisting with the court-ordered community service program, and it quickly turned into a part-time job. Ruiz worked for the City's Volunteer Services Department for 11 years until she decided to retire a year ago.

She continues to dedicate 10 hours a week to the City and

Slice of the Springs meetings continue

Residents who wish to improve their neighborhood and get to know their neighbors are invited to attend their Slice of the Springs meeting. Key staff from all City departments including City Manager's Office, Police, Fire, Code, Building, Parks, Community Development, and Public Works, as well as representatives from Broward County, Water/Canal Districts and other local government agencies will be available to provide information and details about what is happening in your neighborhood. Specific topics such as public safety, parks, code enforcement, traffic, and neighborhood projects will be discussed during these informative meetings.

Through the Slice of the Springs, residents have the opportunity to get involved and make a difference. The comments and suggestions from meetings have launched programs like traffic calming and landlord training workshops, commercial Slice meetings, neighborhood sign construction, median enhancements and other capital improvements.

All meetings are on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9PM. Upcoming Slice meetings include:

- January 25: Northeast at Park Springs Elementary.
- February 15: Southwest at Riverside Elementary.
- March 8: Southeast at Ramblewood Elementary.

Residents in each "Slice" will receive a reminder notice in the mail prior to their neighborhood meeting and are asked to complete and return the reply card by mail or online at coralsprings.org/slice.

For more information, call the City's Community Development Division at 954-344-1114.

helps with multiple programs, including Project Lifesaver, fingerprinting at City Hall in the Mall, the CERT team, and Seniors vs. Crime. Ruiz also lends a helping hand at City events throughout the year.

"I just hate to cook and clean, and volunteering is a great way to get out of the house," said Ruiz, laughing.

Her husband of 22 years, Ed, used to complain she was never home, so he jumped on the wagon and currently volunteers occasionally with his wife.

Ruiz spends her free time attending senior exercise classes at the Aquatic Complex and doing yoga. She loves to travel and this year she hopes to visit Scotland, a country where she'll be able to trace her family's roots. Ruiz plans to enjoy her retirement to the fullest alongside her husband, all the while giving back to her community.

For more information on volunteer opportunities with the City of Coral Springs, contact Volunteer Coordinator Kim Sanecki at 954-346-4430.

Volunteer at the Waterway Cleanup

The 30th Annual Broward Waterway Cleanup will take place in Coral Springs at Riverside Park, 205 Coral Ridge Drive, on Saturday, March 3 from 9AM to 1PM.

For the past 12 years, Coral Springs has participated in the county-wide effort, drawing out more than 350 volunteers last year. Participants will help search the City's waterways for debris. Last year, volunteers found everything from patio umbrellas to furniture. Students are eligible to receive volunteer service hours, and event sponsors are being sought. For more information, visit waterwaycleanup.org, or call 954-971-4040 or 954-345-2110.

Volunteers at the Waterway Cleanup scour the canals and lakes in Coral Springs to retrieve improperly disposed trash and other debris.

Bike Unit back on the road

In a typical day, Coral Springs Police Sgt. George Soberon could easily ride his bicycle 30 miles, patrolling different spots in the City. Soberon leads the CSPD's six-person bike unit, which began patrolling parks, neighborhoods, Magnolia Shoppes, the mall and other City sites late last year. Officers on bikes, Soberon said, are able to get to places such as these more quickly and stealthily if necessary than officers in a car or on a motorcycle.

"I think it's something that could really help the City," Soberon said. "I know if you can get people on the ground in areas that need special attention, we can solve a lot of problems."

The Department wanted a bicycle unit again as a way to proactively work with the community, showing residents that police officers are accessible. For example, Soberon said he and the other officers would give helmet safety tips to children and parents in City parks.

"This will give us more mobility," he said. "We'll be more accessible to citizens." For more information about other Police Department initiatives, visit coralsprings.org/police.

Your Representatives

Newly elected Democrat State Rep. Jim Waldman was recently appointed as a Minority Whip for the 2006-2008 Democratic Caucus Leadership Team. He represents District 95, which includes portions of Coral Springs and surrounding areas. Waldman had been a member of the Coconut Creek City Commission for 12 years, where he most recently served as mayor.

As of the November election, your current representatives for U.S. Senate are Democrat Bill Nelson and Republican Mel Martinez. For U.S. Congress, Democrat Ron Klein represents District 22, and Republican Robert Wexler represents District 19. Along with Rep. Jim Waldman, voters returned Rep. Ari Porth to represent District 96 in the Florida House of Representatives. Democrat Jeremy Ring was elected to the State Senate from District 32, and lastly, Ilene Lieberman was re-elected as Broward County Commissioner for District 1 along with Commissioner Stacy Ritter for District 3.

If you'd like more information on your representatives, please visit coralsprings.org/representatives.

Celebrate your City at Our Town America festival in March

Our Town America will present its 27th annual family festival on March 9, 10 and 11 in the Sportsplex at Coral Springs. This event draws more than 100,000 visitors from the tri-county area every year.

Originally, Our Town America was sponsored by the Coral Springs Chamber of Commerce. In 1997, a group of non-profit organizations and private individuals came together, reorganized the event, and decided to give back to the community. Our Town America has given more than $300,000 to local groups and charities.

The festival hours will be Friday, March 9 from 6 to 11PM, Saturday, March 10 from 10AM to 11PM, and Sunday, March 11 from 10AM to 6PM.

The festival is geared towards family fun and includes live entertainment, food court, amusements, arts and crafts, merchant booths, classic car show, games, and the traditional "Miss Our Town Beauty Pageant."

"Our Town America is a premier family festival and there are activities and entertainment for people of all ages," said William "Bill" Otto, chairman of Our Town America.

Festival entry is free and parking is only $3. A wristband for the amusement park may be purchased at an additional cost. The Sportsplex is located just east of the Sawgrass Expressway between Sample Road and Royal Palm Boulevard.

For more information, visit ourtownamerica.org or call 954-752-0126.

IncredibleCE celebrates its 10th anniversary

Jeff Campol says people thought his idea to build an ice facility on the edge of the Everglades was simply outrageous.

But IncredibleCE at Sportsplex opened Nov. 21, 1996 and since then has accommodated more than five million skaters and hosted myriad national and international hockey and figure skating tournaments.

"I looked at a bunch of different sites and Coral Springs was far and away the best," said Campol, IncredibleCE's general manager.

IncredibleCE was the first designed twin rink facility in the state and is the official home of the Florida Panthers. Also offered in the building's 75,000 square feet are figure skating programs, adult and youth hockey for men and women, and plenty of public skating.

"We're looking to continue to be corporate partners and continue to bring this type of recognition not only to the people of Coral Springs, but from far beyond," Campol said.

For more information on any IncredibleCE program, visit incredibleice.com or call 954-341-9956.

Watch CityTV Channel 25

My Coral Springs

Photos submitted by our readers

community

Coral Springs is inviting residents to submit their best photos of Coral Springs. Submitted photos may be featured in an upcoming issue of Coral Springs Magazine, on CityTV 25 or on the City's web site. Please e-mail your full-resolution photographs to editor@coralsprings.org. Don't forget to include your name, description of the people or places pictured, as well as why your photo signifies what Coral Springs means to you.

"Where else can you go to find such classy dogs other than Dr. Paul's Dog Park in Coral Springs? Only the coolest dogs go there."

— George Miller

"Even when they're young, they still feel a need to be a part of Earth Day in Coral Springs. This is their world too and they know they need to take care of it."

— George Miller

"There's beauty all around you in Coral Springs, all you need do is look carefully. You might just start at our wetland area near the Center for the Arts."

— George Miller

Fall 2006 • Coral Springs • 9

New ordinance will allow more creative signage

City Commissioners approved a more business-friendly sign ordinance in November to help business owners and improve the aesthetics of our streetscapes.

Our most recent business survey showed that 88.4 percent of business owners would recommend the City to their peers, but 9.1 percent felt that the sign code was too strict.

As a result, the City Commission unanimously voted to amend the City's sign ordinance and permit designer signs, which allows business owners to get a bit more creative with their outdoor advertising. The revamped ordinance also includes changes to real estate signs, permanent wall signs, number of signs allowed, multi-story signs in commercial locations and signage identifying the business name versus services provided.

"The revisions allow for more flexibility for certain signage, while still requiring a high standard of quality," said Community Development Director Susan Hess.

Sign consultant Tom Graboski feels that one of the biggest problems in Coral Springs is the lack of design and sign maintenance. A designer sign allows business owners to add their logos, get more creative and improve the aesthetics of the City. Business owners still have to apply for sign permits, and the City's sign consultant will review designer signs.

Graboski has been working with City staff for more than two years on this project, all the while comparing Coral Springs to similar cities to help come up with a unique plan to accommodate our community's needs. The Chamber of Commerce's Government Affairs Committee and

Board of Directors also provided input from city businesses on signage all along the way.

In October 2005, the Commission also implemented Phase I of the sign ordinance, which included alterations to ground signs, election signs, anchor tenant names, and Downtown signage.

"The goal of this initiative is to provide for a comprehensive review of the current sign ordinance and update the ordinance as appropriate for today's needs that are relevant to Coral Springs," Hess said. "We want to create a proper balance between both the business community and the residential community which ultimately enhances the City of Coral Springs."

To view a copy of the sign ordinance, visit coralsprings.org or contact Community Development at 954-344-1114 for more information.

City to host teen Business Success Day and Job Fair

The City, with the assistance of the Coral Springs Chamber of Commerce, conducts an annual Business Success Day each February to help prepare teens for the job application process. Then in March, the City will host a job fair, where students who attended the Business Success Day will have the opportunity to meet local employers interested in hiring teens. High school students ages 14 and older can attend the Business Success Day on Monday, February 19 from 1 to 3PM at the Northwest Regional Library, 3151 University Drive. Only those students who graduate from the Business Success Day will be eligible to apply for jobs at the Youth Job Fair, which is planned for Thursday, March 15.

Students who attend both seminars will receive volunteer service hours.

The first event will focus on resumé, interview and presentation skills. Coral Springs business owners will receive an invitation in January to participate in the Youth Job Fair.

"We urge teens to attend the Business Success Day to prepare for their future in the business world as these basic tips will stay with them for years to come," said Coral Springs Youth Services Coordinator Regina Price.

Interested students must RSVP by February 6. For details, call 954-340-5030 or e-mail rprice@coralsprings.org.

What's Going Up?

The rumors are true: Best Buy is coming to Coral Springs.

Set to open January 19, the 40,000-square-foot Best Buy will include a Magnolia Home Theater Studio for those customers interested in high-end home entertainment systems. Store General Manager Ryan DeNunzio also said the store features Best Buy for Business, a section dedicated to small businesses with 20 employees or less.

DeNunzio said the company came to Coral Springs because, "Our customers have been asking us for years. A lot of it has to do with response to customers."

Best Buy is situated on the corner of Atlantic Boulevard and University Drive in the old Toys R Us location.

To look at what projects are going up in your neighborhood, visit coralsprings.org/business and click on the Current Land Development List.

Our Water

How is it treated?

The Coral Springs Utilities Division serves the central part of the City and operates four treatment units that prepare raw water for drinking and other use.

Raw groundwater is drawn from the Biscayne Aquifer, and once it is pumped out of the wells, it goes through a series of steps to ensure that the water meets the standards of the Safe Drinking Water Act and the Clean Water Act.

These regulations, along with others, set standards that municipal Utilities Divisions must follow to stay within regulatory compliance. One of the regulations included under the Primary Water Standards is the Maximum Contaminant Level, which sets the level to assure there is no health risk to the public.

According to protocol, additives are then required to disinfect the water, so it is safe to drink. The additives also improve taste and odor, which are considered Secondary Water Standards, and help soften the water, which raises the quality for domestic use, including dishwashing and bathing.

Fluoride is also added to the water, as it has nutritional value and helps build strong teeth. The water is then put through a filtering system, which improves clarity.

On an hourly basis, the water is sampled and tested throughout the treatment stages to ensure that the processes are functioning properly.

The water plant runs 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and the distribution system consists of approximately 140 miles of water mains and service lines. Coral Springs residents consume an average of eight million gallons of water a day. During early mornings and evenings, there are three off-site booster facilities that serve to reduce the output demand of the main facility and provide adequate water pressure to their customers.

The City also has interconnections with the other water districts in Coral Springs, as well as with the City of Margate.

“These interconnects are an essential component of our emergency operations plan to provide uninterrupted water supply for our customers and fire protection,” said Utilities Superintendent Dave Moore.

In the aftermath of Hurricane Wilma, this theory was tested when the generator at the City’s treatment plant failed. Fortunately, the City was able to maintain water pressure by opening the interconnects with the other local districts.

Within the next 10 years, the City plans to allocate several million dollars to make major improvements to the water and sewer systems. Some of the projects the City plans to complete during fiscal year 2007 are to improve the water supply metering system, install additional water mains to improve pressure, and complete several designs for improvements at the Water Treatment Plant. These projects will help meet the needs of the projected population increase.

The treatment discussed is similar for all of Coral Springs’ water districts, including Coral Springs Improvement, North Springs Improvement and Royal Utilities, which are separate government entities.

Due to the expected increase in population over the next few years and the possible withdrawal restrictions due to record-low rainfall in 2006, the City will need your help in conserving water.

This article is the second of a series about our water. In our next issue, we’ll give you some conservation tips that will not only help the environment but will save you some money in the long run.

Celebrate our diverse cultures at WorldFest

Residents of Coral Springs and surrounding communities will have a chance to travel around the world without leaving South Florida when WorldFest begins in February.

"It's a community event showcasing all the various cultures that abound in our community," said Community Relations Manager Joyce Campos.

WorldFest, scheduled for February 10 and 11 in the Sportsplex at Coral Springs, will feature a variety of cultural foods, live music, arts and crafts, international folk games, and activities for children. There also will be non-stop live music and dance performances.

"We have had festivals in the past, and when we did our last Diversity Dialogue, we heard from everybody that we're all Americans. We're not hyphenated," Campos said.

Food and craft vendor positions still are available. WorldFest, sponsored by the Coral Springs Multi-Cultural Advisory Committee, starts Saturday at 11AM until 11PM, and Sunday from 11AM to 6PM. The event is free, but there is a $3 parking fee at Sportsplex, 2575 Sportsplex Drive at the west end of Royal Palm Boulevard.

For more information, call 954-344-1005.

Students encouraged to participate in UniTown

Applications are available for local high school students interested in attending UniTown, a weekend-long retreat focusing on leadership and diversity training.

The Coral Springs Multi-Cultural Advisory Committee began sponsoring UniTown more than eight years ago, stemming from an idea to provide diversity education to local students. Since then, it has grown to include youth from other cities, including North Lauderdale and Lauderdale this year.

"We hope when the kids come back, they can take a more active role in their schools and communities," said Community Relations Manager Joyce Campos.

UniTown will take place during President's Day weekend, February 17 through 19 at Gold Coast camp in Lake Worth. There is no charge for attending and the City provides transportation to and from UniTown. A refundable $50 deposit is required.

For more information, contact 954-344-1005.

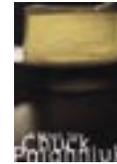

What are you reading?

Amy Weiner
9th grade
Coral Glades High
1984 by George Orwell

"1984 puts society in such a new perspective. It's futuristic, yet it's somewhat related to how we live today."

Derek Nelson
11th grade
Coral Glades High
Fight Club by Chuck Palahniuk

"Fight Club has a powerful message about the guidelines society creates, and it's all about a group who decides to fight back and break the norm."

Omari Anderson
10th grade
J.P. Taravella High
Tears of a Tiger
by Sharon Draper

"This book is about basketball player and his teammates who get in a car accident and it changes their lives drastically."

Save the date for 'Unity in Our Community'

One Planet United, along with the support of the Coral Springs Multi-Cultural Advisory Committee, is proud to announce its second annual "Unity in Our Community" event.

Join your neighbors on Sunday, April 29 at 4PM at the Coral Springs Center for the Arts for music, dance, and drama, all focusing on celebrating the things that unite us as people. This year's theme is "Diversity Happens – Unity is a Choice."

Also, the second annual "Humanitarian of the Year" award will be presented to a deserving Coral Springs resident. Last year, Karen Bossert from Hatikvah House, a Coral Springs group home that provides care to mentally and physically challenged adults, was given the award. Nominations are being accepted through April 1, 2007. Write a short essay describing the nominee and e-mail it to inspiration@opunited.org. All descriptions should include any humanitarian accomplishments, mission, and causes.

Admission is $8 and tickets will be available at the Coral Springs Center for the Arts. For details, call 954-340-2115 or visit opunited.org.

Stroll along 'The Walk' at the Festival of the Arts

The third annual Coral Springs Festival of the Arts is scheduled for the weekend of March 17 and 18 along The Walk at University. Artists and craftsmen from throughout the country are making their plans to attend, and local businesses and citizen volunteers have begun to pitch in to make this year's event even better.

Coral Springs artist Al Razza's painting, Macaw, has been chosen as the 2007 signature artwork for the event. The painting represents South Florida and its tropical feel.

The Festival will feature a professional art and craft fair produced by nationally known Howard Alan Events, Ltd. More than 200 artists offer art and crafts in all price levels, ranging from sculpture to paintings to photography and ceramics.

Coral Springs artist Al Razza's painting, Macaw, has been chosen as the 2007 signature artwork for the event.

"The goal of the Festival is to raise awareness of arts and culture, and to raise funds for cultural programs within the City," Festival Vice President Paul Brite said. Proceeds from the Festival will benefit non-profit artistic endeavors within Coral Springs and the surrounding area, including the Coral Springs Museum of Art.

The Festival is not limited to the visual arts. Live music, dance, theater, poetry and literary events are scheduled throughout both days. The event will also feature prose and poetry workshops at Barnes & Noble as part of the program; the workshops are free and open to the public, but reservations are required.

This year, there will be an art show and contest featuring local high school students' artwork. Art teachers will be giving students more information on how students can participate closer to the date. A lucky winner will be announced at the Festival and will receive a $500 scholarship.

Residents are also invited to attend a kickoff concert featuring The Drifters on Sunday, March 11 at the Center for the Arts. The Drifters were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1988 in honor of their doo-wop hits, including "Spanish Harlem," "This Magic Moment," and "Stand by Me."

Free shuttle service to the Festival will be available between the various free parking areas and The Walk, which is located on University Drive just south of Sample Road.

For more information regarding the Coral Springs Festival of the Arts, including entertainment schedules, contest information, off-site parking agreements, and volunteer and sponsorship opportunities, visit csfoa.org or call 954-340-5992.

First private artwork installed through public art program

People passing by the new Whispering Woods Commerce Center on Wiles Road can see Colombian-French artist Gustavo Verajano's "Guardian Towers," a series of three towers symbolizing the moon, sun and fire.

"Guardian Towers" is the first private artwork installed in the city based on the Public Art Ordinance. Developers of buildings with more than 12,500 square feet of floor area are required to install public art on the property or contribute to the City's public art fund.

More private Public Art projects are on the way, including Kim Radochia's "Tropical Toss" in front of Village Green Apartments on Sample Road, and Wet Design as been approved to develop a fountain for One Charter Place.

After traveling throughout Coral Springs to City Hall and a dentist's office, the "Gator and Grebe" finally have a permanent home.

Doug Makemson's sculpture, part of the City's growing Public Art program, is easily visible on a median in the Sportsplex area between Dr. Paul's Pet Care Center Dog Park and the baseball fields.

Since the Public Art program began in 2003, Coral Springs has acquired five permanent sculptures, including Jack Howard-Potter's "Rotate", the red sculpture of a man at University and Sample. Artist Kevin Barrett installed the bright blue "Union One" on Sample Road on October 27, said Senior Planner Glenn Weiss, who also oversees the Public Art program.

For more information about the Public Art program, visit coralsprings.org/publicart.

"Grebe" by Doug Makemson

A Winning Idea

Students honored for eCYBERMISSION project

The U.S. Army recently recognized four talented ninth graders for winning first place in the eCYBERMISSION contest. During their last year at Sawgrass Spring Middle School, they submitted what turned out to be an award-winning science project with the help of their teacher Linda DeCarlo.

After watching the devastation of Hurricane Wilma, the team was inspired to come up with a creative solution to lessen the damage of storm-ravaged homes.

The team, also known as The Klismos, came up with a device that enables a homeowner to quickly unroll a tarp without having to climb on the roof.

Insurance companies, such as Allstate, have shown interest in this invention because much of the damage they tend to pay for after a storm is interior damage. The team is in the process of getting a patent, which is another great learning process that will benefit them in the future.

"When my students become involved with eCYBERMISSION, they begin to see their place in the world and realize that it is possible to make a difference," DeCarlo said.

The eCYBERMISSION contest, sponsored by the U.S. Army, is a nationwide Web-based science, math and technology competition for students in grades six through nine. The Klismos, comprised of Max Allman, Steven Avalon, Casey Stevens and Taylor Westerlind, were the Eighth Grade Criteria Winners in the Southeast Region.

Each student received $2,000 in U.S. savings bonds, presented to them in a ceremony at Sawgrass Springs Middle. Although they each attend different high schools, they definitely shared an experience they will never forget.

For more information on how you can participate, visit ecybermission.com.

The Klismos, comprised of (from left) Casey Stevens, Max Allman, Steven Avalon, and Taylor Westerlind, won the eCYBERMISSION contest for their unrolling tarp for homes in hurricane-prone areas. For their innovative idea, the U.S. Army presented each student with $2,000 in savings bonds.

Educational Day for Seniors

An Educational Day for Seniors – “Coral Springs University” – will be held on Wednesday, January 10 at the Coral Springs Center for the Arts from 8AM to noon.

Breakout sessions will be offered on topics such as health issues, crime prevention and senior issues, along with a keynote speaker.

There will also be some free giveaways and raffles. This event is free and open to all seniors. Space is limited; register prior to the event by calling 954-759-7400.

Family & teen concerts

Your entire family will not want to miss the next series of free family concert. Concerts will be on the following Saturday nights:

January 20: Hot Brass Monkey, show band; February 17: Steel and Ivory, jazzy Caribbean steel band; March 24: The Fabulons, '50s-'80s show band.

Hot Brass Monkey

All concerts begin at 7PM at Betti Stradling Park, located at the northeast corner of Wiles Road and Coral Springs Drive. Parking and admission is free, so bring your blankets and lawn chairs and enjoy the entertainment. Refreshments will be available for purchase at the park during the concert.

For more details, call 954-344-2200 or visit the Event Calendar at coralsprings.org/events.

New Summer Fun Guide available in March

The City of Coral Springs offers a variety of exciting adventures for campers. Many programs break away from traditional summer camps by taking kids on journeys they'll treasure forever.

The 2007 Summer Fun Guide will be available in March, and you'll be able to sign up for Kamp Kool, dance camps, etiquette camps, sports camps, or special needs camps. Make a splash in the aquatics program, learn to swim, or even take a swing at tennis. The City offers something for everyone, including extended hours camps.

The 2007 Summer Fun Guide and applications will be available at the Coral Springs Gymnasium, 2501 Coral Springs Drive; City Hall in the Mall, Coral Square Mall; the Coral Springs Aquatic Complex and Tennis Center of Coral Springs, 2575 Sportsplex Drive; and the Cypress Park Tennis Center, 1301 Coral Springs Drive.

Guides are also available at City Hall, 9551 West Sample Road. To view the Summer Fun Guide and application forms visit coralsprings.org/summerfun. For more details, call 954-345-2200.

Tickets now available for winter performances

This season at the Coral Springs Center for the Arts kicks off with an exciting lineup. The Center is located at 2855 Coral Springs Drive and the box office is open weekdays from 10AM to 6PM and Saturdays from noon to 5PM.

The most beloved show in television history is now a major musical! Gilligan's Island: The Musical, comes to the Coral Springs in an exclusive engagement February 2 through February 11. All your favorite characters are live, on stage including Gilligan, the Skipper, Mary Ann, Ginger, the Professor, the Millionaire and his wife. The couple is played by two of the original TV stars from Gilligan's Island and The Brady Bunch, Dawn Wells and Barry Williams.

Don't miss American Idol winner Taylor Hicks live in concert on February 23 at 8PM. Then, on March 2 at 8PM, NBC's Last Comic Standing finalist Kathleen Madigan will perform some of her best stand-up material.

Beatles' fans won't want to miss Get Back! Beatlemania, on Saturday, March 10 at 8PM. The show uses authentic costumes, vintage instruments, astonishingly realistic characterizations and state-of-the-art digital orchestration. The cast members create the illusion of John, Paul, George, and Ringo in a two-hour musical and visual experience that has thrilled audiences throughout the world.

Known also for his lovable sitcom personalities, Tony Danza will be performing in concert on Monday, March 19 at 7:30PM.

For additional information on these shows and many more, contact the Box Office at 954-344-5990 or visit coralspringscenterforthearts.com.

Holiday Parade cancelled due to inclement weather

The City of Coral Springs and the Holiday Parade Committee would like to express their apologies and disappointment in having to cancel the 2006 Holiday Parade due to inclement weather on December 14.

Unfortunately, due to logistical implications, it will not be possible to reschedule the event this year. The Parade Committee sincerely hopes that our participants, spectators and sponsors will look forward to taking part in next year's parade. All entry and sponsorship fees will be returned. A decision as to the 2007 parade theme will be made in the coming months, and any updates will be posted at coralsprings.org/holidayparade.

National Flood Insurance Program grants discount to City residents

The NFIP's Community Rating System gives the City of Coral Springs a very good rating for its flood protection activities, which includes publishing flood information at coralsprings.org and in print publications twice a year. The 8-score rating means that our residents receive a 10 percent discount on new or renewed flood insurance policies.

Flood hazard information

Flooding is the most common natural disaster in the United States. More than 90 percent of the City is part of a Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA). Therefore, whether you live in a SFHA or not, knowledge and preparation for flooding are important. The following information reviews flood safety and warnings, floodplain development requirements, and other important flood-related issues.

Flood warnings

The City and the Broward County Office of Emergency Management (OEM), in coordination with the National Weather Service, relays updates of threatening weather to our residents. They provide warning systems and severe weather emergency operating plans. Flood warnings or watch advisories are issued through local radio and TV stations, including CityTV Channel 25.

Flood safety

Knowing what to do to minimize your loss is the first step to storm survival. Please review the following safety tips to ensure the safety of you and your family:

1. Turn off electricity and natural gas.
2. Have a battery-powered radio or television to monitor flood warning information from officials and evacuate when orders are given.
3. Stay away from a zone that has been evacuated and go to a shelter. It may be difficult to distinguish between roads and canals during severe flooding.
4. Be particularly careful when moving about at night.

Property protection measures

Property protection measures should be taken with the onset of a flood or if your home is susceptible to flooding. Move essential items and furniture to the upper areas of your home. Keep materials (e.g. sandbags, plywood, etc.) handy for emergency waterproofing.

Flood insurance

Standard homeowner's insurance policies do not cover loss due to floods. However, the City of Coral Springs participates in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), which makes it possible for property owners to obtain federally backed flood insurance. This insurance is available to all citizens.

The City urges residents and business owners to buy flood insurance to protect against potentially devastating loss. Property owners may insure buildings and contents. Renters can also purchase flood insurance to protect possessions. There is a 30-day waiting period before the NFIP coverage takes effect. Call your insurance agent for more information.

Residents outside the SFHA area should take note of the property protection measures and flood-safety information sections since floods can occur in their areas.

Site development permits required

Regulations developed by the City prevent or regulate the construction of flood barriers that might unnaturally divert floodwaters or might increase flood hazards in other areas; restrict or prohibit uses which may result in damaging increases in erosion; and control filling, grading, and dredging.

Prior to commencing any site development or construction work, including new construction, repair/replacement work and additions, signs, fences, fill and tree removal, please contact the Building Department at 954-344-1025, so that the appropriate permits may be secured as necessary.

Drainage system maintenance

The City has a system of drainage catch basins for storm water management that is maintained on a regular basis by the Public Works Department. The flow of water within canals is maintained by the following Drainage Districts: the Coral Springs Improvement District, the Sunshine Water Control District, the North Springs Improvement District, the Pine Tree Water Control District, the Crossings District and the Turtle Run District. State law prohibits illegal dumping in waterways. Violations should be reported to Citizen's Services, 954-344-1001; or the Police Department, 954-344-1800. To report a drainage problem, residents may contact Public Works at 954-345-2210.

Natural and beneficial functions

State regulations protect those natural areas that help to reduce the risk associated with flooding. When portions of floodplains are preserved (or restored) to their natural state, they provide many benefits to both humans and natural systems.

Map determination and elevation certificates

The Geographic Information System (GIS) Department provides Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) determinations to residents inquiring whether their structure is located in a SFHA zone. The City requires elevation certificates on homes built after 1991 as part of the permitting process for all newly constructed or substantially improved buildings. The certificate documents the base-flood elevation of buildings and is available to any inquirers in order to facilitate accurate insurance ratings. To find out if an elevation certificate has been completed for your property, please call the Building Division at 954-344-5950.

For more information

The Northwest Regional Library, at 3151 University Drive, has flood protection information, copies of flood insurance rate maps and flood zone explanations. More than 90 percent of Coral Springs is located within a special Flood Hazard Area, which means your home could be prone to flooding. For details about your property, call the Public Works Streets Division at 954-344-1169.

City Hall in the Mall - Giving Tree Ceremony

around the town

Around the Town

Sawgrass Nature Center Grand Opening

Holiday Haven

IncredibleICE 10th Anniversary

What's Happening?

Always visit coralsprings.org/events for the latest updates and additions to this list of events happening in Coral Springs in the coming months.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration

Friday, January 12 • 954-344-1063
coralsprings.org/mlk
Luncheon • noon • Coral Springs Marriott • $40
Community Celebration • 7PM • Center for the Arts
$5 adults, $1 children 17 and younger
VIP Reception • 9PM • Center for the Arts • $20

Muslims in America: The Truth and Misconceptions

Sunday, January 14 • 2 to 4PM • Free
Northwest Regional Library • Call 954-344-1063 to register

Martin Luther King, Jr. Step Show Competition

Friday, January 26 • 7PM
Coral Springs High School • 954-344-1063

Remote Hazardous Waste Collection

Sunday, February 11 • 8AM to 3PM
City Hall South, 9530 West Sample Road • 954-960-3023

Trash to Treasure Garage Sale

Saturday, March 17 • 8 to 11AM
Mullins Park • Vendor spaces available for $20 and $20 deposit to be returned if space is clean • 954-345-2209

Visit the Coral Springs Museum of Art during its 10th Anniversary!

Exhibits Through February 17

Bob Bagley: Color Photography
Sculpture in Focus ▶

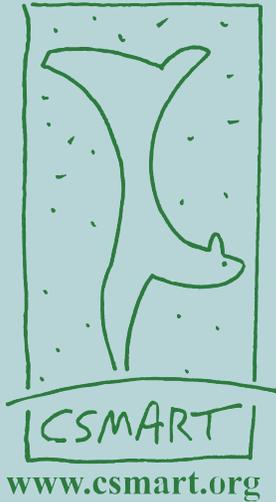

Sally Cooper:
Experimental Painting
◀ Penumbra III

Tin Ly: Morphing Forms
Selections of Dimensional Work, (1990~2006)
Langit ku Rumah ku No. 5 ▼

◀ African Storytelling with Madafo
Saturday January 20
3PM
Adults $4
Seniors/Children $3
Members free

Coral Springs Museum of Art
2855 Coral Springs Drive
954-340-5000
Monday-Saturday 10AM-5PM

CITY OF CORAL SPRINGS

9551 West Sample Road
Coral Springs, FL 33065

www.coralsprings.org

PRSRT STD
ECR
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
So. Florida, FL
PERMIT #1401